The State Fair.

The opening day of the fair has been attended with cool and cloudy weather, but has been free from rain. The entries are numerous in every department, and the secretary predicts an unusually fine exhibition. The first day of the fair, being devoted to making entries and arranging exhibits, affords little matter for an intelligible account of what the exhibition promises to be when fully developed. The exhibits in the agricultural and home and cattle departments are already full, and mechanics and naval arts present a fair array of the various articles usually displayed there. Visitors are assured, from present indications, that this fair will not be eclipsed by any of its predecessors, and may surpass all in genuine attractions. A full report of this fair by Dr. Hoskins, our agricultural editor, will appear in our next issue.

Current Mention.

The Episcopal church choir of the state met in convention at Burlington, September 9th.

Rev. J. H. Blanks has returned from his vacation, and will occupy his pulpit next Sabbath.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR COLON and Governor-elect Farnham have been in town the past week.

The annual muster of the National Guard of Vermont will be held here on the 9th, 6th and 7th of October.

A meeting of the Capitol Guard recently, the names of several new members were presented and accepted.

Any one who wishes to purchase a farm in the vicinity of Montpelier will find a good chance by inquiring of S. S. Eaton of this village.

The clock in the depot tower is now in running order, and chimes the hours of the day and displays the hour of the night on its illuminated dial.

Tariff of St. Augustine's church, at the village hall last Friday evening, was a thorough success, as have been all they have ever had, and the receipts were $30.

A STATED CONVOCATION of King Solomon, Royal Arch Chapter, No. 7, will be held at Masonic Hall, on Thursday evening, September 16th, at half-past seven o'clock. Regular council assembly at seven o'clock.

It is hoped that no one will forget the fair which is to be held at the village hall, next Tuesday afternoon and evening by the ladies of Bethany society. Attractions for both young and old will be numerous.

The lamp-posts in the village have all been repainted. Some new, with lanterns of a handsome pattern have been put in, and the others are to be well be lighted this Saturday evening.

General W. L. Lynde of Burlington, is dangerously ill, having stricken with a paralytic stroke—the second he has had. General Lynde is one of the principal Republican candidates for presidential elector-at-large.

It is to be hoped to buy to boats, the boy's price until you see what J. C. Griggs has got, and get his price. The best and most complete assortment of boys' boats can always be found at Griggs' in Waterbury.

J. C. Griggs offers an attractive line of premiums to growers of orchards. For particular, see advertising columns. He also offers for sale a large quantity of White Russian wheat.

At the state house, under the supervision of Sergeant-at-Arms Phinney, preparations are being made for the coming session of the legislature. The steam works are being put in order, new carpets have been put down, and the whole building has been put in complete order.

Obituaries.

DAVIS.—Mr. Anson Davis died in Montpelier on the 11th instant, after a very brief illness, aged seventy-one years, being, it is believed, the oldest man in Montpelier village who was born within it. He was the third son of Thomas Davis, who was a tanner originally, the first Tanner and a grandson of the late John Davis, a tanner and tinsmith in that part of the old town of Montpelier which was known as "the village." A few years ago Mr. Davis lost his wife, an excellent woman, and since that event his life has been a lonely one. He leaves one son, James W., a teacher in New York city.

HARLEY.—Dr. Norman W. Harley, president of the State Board of Health, died suddenly of apoplexy (the result of heart disease) at his residence Saturday morning, September 11th. Dr. Harley was born in Poultney, Vermont, August 14th, 1814. He was a graduate of the University of Vermont, and was admitted to the bar in 1838. He was a member of the bar of the State of New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, and a member of the New England Bar Association. He was a man of great ability and energy, and his death is a loss to the profession.

He was a member of the New England Bar Association, and a member of the Boston Bar Association. He was a member of the Boston Medical Society, and a member of the Boston Club.
